1 PHILOMATH

Your objective is to learn new things. Due to your love of learning people tend to say you are a very curious person. You like to experiment with different styles of learning as well - in the end, there is something to learn from that as well, right? As it's the processes itself that excite you, you are not necessarily interested in becoming a subject matter expert. Instead you prefer learning something fast and then shift to a new thing to learn. Thanks to this strength, you learn very fast and thrive in short projects and dynamically changing environments. Needless to say, you will always be the one to contribute with new knowledge to your team as well.

2 BELIEVER

WHAT OTHERS THINK ▾

Wondering what others think you are really good at? Let's find out.

Invite your peers to anonymously review your strengths and discover a 360 degree overview of your natural talents.

It won't take them even 7 minutes, but you will gain invaluable insights into how others perceive you.

You will see the ranking once at least 1 person has filled in a review about they value in you.
